

I. Use the correct forms of the verbs to express future time:

"I think I (visit) John in the afternoon. By then he (finish) with his work in the garden." "What is he doing in the garden all the time?"- "He is digging pits now because he (plant) a lot of apple trees."- "What (do) with all the apples?"- "I don't know, perhaps he (sell) them to a supermarket.

II. Fill in the correct relative pronoun. Add commas where necessary. Put it in brackets where you can leave it out:

1. We found nothing was of any value.
2. President Reagan career began in Hollywood is the father of the SDI programme.
3. Do you remember the names of the people were at the party?
4. Yesterday I finally talked to our mayor, Mr. Mc Gyre had promised to help us put the concert through.
5. That's the silliest answer I have ever heard.
6. Andrew is one of the boys Pete is going on holidays with.

III. Fill in: adverb or adjective (in their correct forms):

1. She reacted than usual (quiet).
2. Tina looks in that dress! (fantastic)
3. Of all the people present, he argued (convincing = überzeugend)
4. Making presents yourself is much than just buying something. (personal)
5. Their last tour was not as their previous one. (successful)
6. Peter was when he got home. (total, wet)

IV. A reporter of the local newspaper watched the meeting in Sheerness where the inhabitants discussed the matter of the large open air concert.

Now he is writing a report: He gives the basic facts (for those who haven't heard about the plan to organize the concert, yet), describes the atmosphere of the discussion, gives the most important arguments of the individual participants, and informs the readers of the results of the debate.

Write this report (300 words min.)

Good Luck!